BLACKHAWK HILLS REGIONAL COUNCIL

2019-2020 Northwest Illinois Trails Study of the Trails of Carroll, Jo Daviess, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, and Whiteside Counties | October 2020

Last updated: 11/2/2020

Table of Contents
Background

Following the Illinois Department of Transportation's 2018 announcement of funding available for rural regional planning organizations, Blackhawk Hills Regional Council (BHRC) decided to seek moneys to study and plan around a now familiar topic: the land-based trails of Northwest Illinois (Carroll, Jo Daviess, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, and Whiteside counties). In arriving at this decision, staff observed the following:

- Success of the inaugural study of the region's trails and desire to continue and expand that work
- Need for consistent and uniform wayfinding across the region to support local and visitor use
- Economic, recreational, and health benefits associated with trail use
- Popularity of multiple modes of use on the region's land-based trails
- Desire for a long-term count of trail users
- Interest from local stakeholders in learning more about local/regional trails and trail use

BHRC submitted two proposals to IDOT, both with a budget of $40,000 (for a total of $80,000). In addition, BHRC budgeted an additional $10,000 to complete the second project (the Wayfinding Guidebook). The Trails Study project included the following deliverables:

- Count of trail users
- Trail user intercept surveys
- New photos of trails and amenities and updated GIS data
- Printed regional trails map and updated nwiltrails.org website

The Wayfinding Guidebook project – reported on separately from this document – included the following deliverables:

- General wayfinding guidebook covering the entire region
- Specific sign plans[1] for three trails: Galena River Trail (Jo Daviess County), Hennepin Feeder Canal Trail (Whiteside County), and Joe Stengel Trail (Lee and Ogle counties)

[1] Sign plans address sign design, types, locations, and other wayfinding details about a particular trail

Methods

Selection
BHRC continued to work with the region's trail stakeholders to select study sites and determine optimal counter placements. Many counters from the previous round remained in the field; other sites were added and some were decommissioned. Intercept survey sites were established in a similar manner – that is, in coordination with locals and using other information that might indicate a site's conduciveness to accommodating participating trail users.

Equipment
We again selected the economic and movable bicycle/pedestrian infrared counting devices made by TRAFx. Other equipment purchases included hunting/trail cameras and tools and materials to help with counter deployment and function. Furthermore, BHRC purchased items for intercept surveys, such as tablets, tables, snacks, a five-gallon water cooler, and other goods to assist the surveyor and attract survey takers. Additionally, paper surveys and "yard signs" were designed, printed, and later deployed during survey-taking activities in the field.

Installation & Setup
This round of setup involved both new installations and maintenance on existing devices. As of July 2020, twenty-two (22) devices were deployed and active – all owned by BHRC. Some sites were decommissioned during the process; others were newly activated. In the future, we hope to again work with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS), although no FWS devices or other agency were used during this iteration of the trails study.

Trails with counters as of July 2020 include:

- Four Sisters' Bike Path (1 active)
- Galena River Trail (5 active)
  - One impacted by flooding and re-installed
  - Two counters decommissioned
- Great River Trail (4 active)
  - One impacted by technical issues and re-configured
- Hennepin Feeder Canal Trail (1 active)

- - One counter decommissioned
- Jane Addams Trail (5 active)
  - One lost to vandalism and replaced
- Joe Stengel Trail (2)
- Lowell Parkway Trail (2 active)
- Oregon Community Bike Trail (2 active)
- Other decommissions: a counter placed at Lowden Miller State Forest near Oregon, a counter placed in Sinnissippi Park in Sterling

Intercept surveys were conducted near counter sites on the following trails:

- Four Sisters' Bike Path (33 surveys completed)
- Galena River Trail (58 surveys completed)
- Great River Trail (14 surveys completed)
- Hennepin Feeder Canal Trail (114 surveys completed)
- Jane Addams Trail (74 surveys completed)
- Joe Stengel Trail (4 surveys completed)
- Lowell Parkway Trail (34 surveys completed)
- Oregon Community Bike Trail (5 surveys completed)

Collecting Information

- For information about trail user counting, see Appendix A, as well as BHRC's 2018 report.
- Regarding intercept surveys: trail users were intercepted and surveyed between June 5, 2019, and December 29, 2019. Details are provided under the "Intercept Surveys" section of this report and in Appendix A.

Limitations & Other Considerations

- Regarding counting: for information about limitations and other considerations, see BHRC's 2018 report and Appendix A.
- Intercept survey limitations and other considerations are discussed under the "Intercept Surveys" section of this report and in Appendix A.
- The tool used for intercept surveys is included in Appendix B, and the by-trail compiled results of BHRC's intercept surveys are included in Appendix C.

- Capturing data like direction and mode of travel requires the purchase of more complex equipment (at roughly $5,000 per device alone, acquiring such equipment is – at present – prohibitively expensive)
- Easily identifiable erratic counts recorded by Dillon and Ogletree counters were removed prior to final analysis

The above sources provided both existing and conceptual routes and trails. In addition, paths previously referred to as tours (which BHRC defines as trails that make substantial use of roadways) are now referred to as routes.

Amenities & Conditions

BHRC continued to use previously established amenity types to inventory trails. While working in the field, staff assigned a type to each amenity encountered and, when possible, assessed the quality of the amenity. Staff also noted issues related to trail user experience (e.g., trail damage, vegetation overgrowth, etc.). For a complete list of the amenities recorded and placed, please see the nwiltrails.org region map.

[3] Trail damage (erosion, subsidence, graffiti, etc.), vegetation overgrowth, noxious weeds, etc.

Map Products

Related to the trail layer consolidation and amenities and conditions collection, BHRC created an online map (www.nwiltrails.org) and a printed map (see Appendix D). The latter was designed in large part by Kristin Mitchell Design based in Mineral Point, WI. Paper copies are now available for localities to distribute.

Intercept Surveys

The following highlights some key findings from intercept surveys conducted in 2019:

- Almost all trail users indicated that they would use the particular trail on which they were surveyed again
- Trail Bathrooms received the lowest marks (although, the Joe Stengel Trail received poorer ratings for Trail Continuity and the Great River Trail received poorer ratings for Trail Connections)
- Trail Cleanliness/Maintenance received high marks, although less so on the Great River Trail and Hennepin Feeder Canal Trail
- With the exception of the Great River Trail (where trail users selected Passing By/Roadside Sign most frequently), trail users learned about a trail through Word of Mouth most frequently
- The Great River Trail and Galena River Trail exhibited the largest proportions of first-time users
- The Joe Stengel Trail and the Great River Trail exhibited the lowest marks for Trail Connections
- Generally speaking, and based on informal feedback, trail users want more Trail Connections and Trail Destinations, including between major population centers and points of interest and/or activities
- See Appendix C for more details (including by individual surveyee)

In addition, we note the following process issues:

- COVID-19: we decided to discontinue intercept surveys in 2020 as part of our response to the pandemic
- Determined trail users: many individuals did not want to stop to take a survey, although were otherwise vocal (literally) about appreciating the work of the surveyor
- Insects: the presence of bugs flying and flitting about was a major factor for many in deciding to take or not to take the survey, especially on trails next to wetlands and bodies of water

Recommendations

The following table includes recommendations for the region's trails.

Table: Trail Recommendations

Recommendation	Description	2020 Update
Develop a style guide and add or replace signage, including: • Wayfinding • Confidence • Interpretive	An investment in wayfinding and confidence signage represents the lowest of the hanging fruit when it comes to easy-to-make, biggest bang-for-the-buck investments. New signs should reference a regional style guide, which includes information about deployment best practices, aesthetics, and maximum impact on trail users. The style guide should also support consistent branding across the region. When considering specific signs, a regional map should be on the list. Deploying regional maps should help trail users understand that there is a larger network in Northwest Illinois to enjoy.	The recommended style guide is complete in the form of the BHRC and IDOT-funded "2020-09 Northwest Illinois Trails - Wayfinding Sign Guide" (aka Wayfinding Guidebook for Northwest Illinois). The guide was completed with the help of stakeholders from across the region and Toole Design. Supplemental guides should address the following: • Designing and placing wayfinding signs that direct users to trail heads and trails • Specific directions and design guidelines for pedestrian-focused trails
Remove or replace obstructions that make passage difficult, including barriers meant to prevent motorized entry.	In general, local (or state/federal) stakeholders should work to remove vegetation and artificial barriers that are or could become safety issues. Implementation will be different for each site. In the case of the former (vegetation), it may be cost effective to solicit volunteers (and those with tools, such as chainsaws) for annual trail-cleanup workdays. Localities should also consider obtaining the help of AmeriCorps teams.	In addition to the elimination (or reduction) of obstructions, clarity and access should be provided with respect to available parking that allows for the convenient use of Northwest Illinois' trails. In some cases, parking facilities must be added. An example is the IL-WI state line on the Jane Addams Trail, a point that provides a logical starting point for trail users but no means for would be trail users to park vehicles and disembark.
Form a regional trails partnership that meets bi-annually to discuss the	The group's scope could include developing uniform or consistent branding, building maintenance/volunteer partnerships, pinpointing further study areas,	The recently disbanded Galena-area trails stakeholder group may provide an example. The main tasks of a Northwest Illinois Trails group should be to 1) market the trails and promotional projects.	determining ways to protect existing trails from damage and loss due to underinvestment, and identifying ideal sites and corridors for acquisition.	region's trails, 2) improve wayfinding on and off trails and routes, 3) identify maintenance priorities and best practices, 4) identify obstacles to and best approaches to establishing an interconnected regional trails system, 5) identify opportunities for resources sharing.

Partner with local stakeholders to apply for grants that address trail maintenance and capital infrastructure issues.	We believe BHRC can support local governments and even the state in leading efforts to seek and secure funding for ongoing maintenance.	BHRC is also well-positioned to develop additional sign plans and seek/administer grants that can support wayfinding, even though local match is not always available.
Determine distinct trail segments, count mileage for each distinct segment, and assign mileage markers at pre-determined intervals.	This should help with trail user confidence and provide public safety/emergency response a reference point.	New sign plans should continue to include mileage markers.
Add local emergency contact information to signage; in selected areas, add so-called blue-light phones.	This may be especially useful for non-locals using the region's various trails. Regarding blue-light phones: this would be easiest in urban locations, but some solutions may be appropriate in rural areas near preserves and state/federal establishments (and take advantage of solar power).	For the purpose of EMS and police dispatch, trail maps should be distributed to sheriff's deputies and other first responders.
Improve aesthetics and amenities at trailheads and gateways.	This may include arches, landscaping, signage, lighting, information booths, and other improvements. Here, we define gateways as transition areas (say, between the IDNR sand prairie preserve and woodland sections).	No change to recommendation.
Shore-up erosion prone areas.	Most notably along the Hennepin Feeder Canal Trail.	No change to recommendation.

Work with local businesses to create destinations for trail users.	Tourism agencies, chambers, and localities should work with businesses that will benefit from continued or expanded trail use. Businesses near trails should be encouraged to provide minor amenities to bicyclists (such as bicycle racks) and consider how trail users access their properties for drinking, dining, shopping, etc.	No change to recommendation.
Identify liability concerns that dissuade individuals, organizations, or governments from making investments in trail infrastructure.	Some governmental entities have liability concerns. Resources, such as those published by Ride Illinois (http://rideillinois.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/10/BoubDisincentiveRiskExposure.pdf), should be used to dispel misconceptions and address other issues.	Liability concerns that stymie public use of land and water-based trails require regular meetings that lead to legislative action. Stakeholders advocating a connection between Savanna and Galena must actively work with state and federal agencies and Congressional and statehouse delegations to discuss solutions that address lack of access to the former Savanna Army Depot and limited right-of-way availability along IL 84.
Continue counting trail users and determine economic impacts.	This may include upgrading counting equipment, making manual counts, and interviewing trail users.	No change to recommendation.
Address damage to trails, including signs, in a timely manner.	n/a	Owners and maintainers of trails should budget for damage caused by vandalism, severe weather, etc. In other words, local officials planning should anticipate that such damage will occur and be prepared to address it promptly.

Table: Other Recommendations

Recommendation	Description	2019-2020 Update
Update greenways and trails maps and consolidate individual plans into a regional document for Northwest Illinois.	An updated regional plan should provide an easier go at future grant writing and unified branding. The plan should also point out ways to better accommodate bicyclists and pedestrians along highways, bridges, and transportation systems in general.	No change to recommendation.
Form regional trails partnership that meets bi-annually.	Please see the Trail Recommendations table.	No change to recommendation.

Northwest Illinois Trails Website

BHRC applied updates to Northwest Illinois Trails (www.nwiltrails.org), including uploading new map layers and trail user data. Concerning future development of the website: the Wayfinding Guidebook for Northwest Illinois calls for including the URL on certain types of wayfinding signs. The logo, when used, will be applied with other logos that indicate the trail's particular link to other trails, systems, and owners/maintainers. The website will likely transition to a public-focused trail user site from a data reporting site geared primarily towards non-user stakeholders. Future updates should maximize accessibility and utility for the general public – including locals and tourists/visitors. Whenever possible, Northwest Illinois Trails will link visitors to nwiltrails.org to local trails sites that contain more specific information (sites like www.janeaddamstrail.com), as well as to Trails Links (e.g., www.traillink.com/trail/jane-addams-trail) and Google Maps.
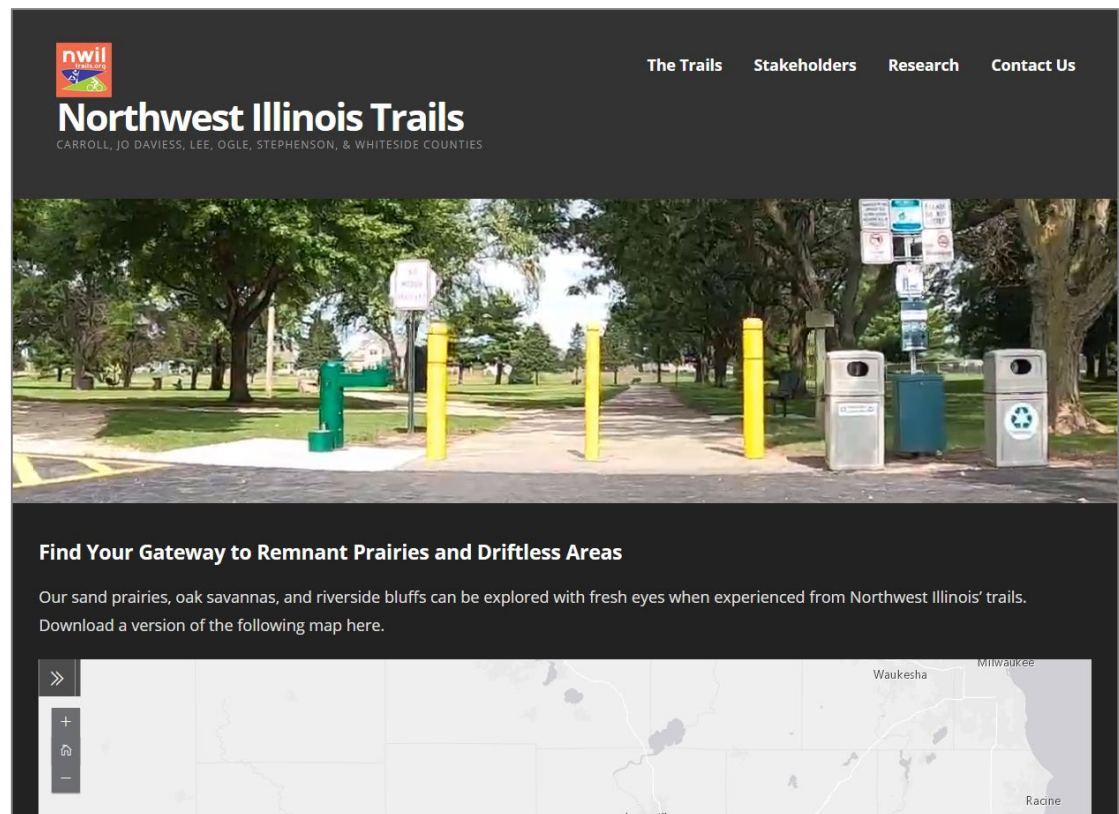

APPENDIX A: Field Work Observations

Counters

- Consider labeling counters "Trail User Counter." Add organization name and phone number. This may curtail curiosity or fear that can lead to vandalism.
- When the battery pack/circuit board housing is placed into the counter box, the unit often pushes the IR lens and scope upward. Setting a screw in the wood block below the scope can reduce shifting.
- When assembling new counters, make sure the scope is positioned so that its dots face the sky. Mark the tube so that you can check its proper orientation when reviewing counters and downloading data.
- Paint the 3 dots with a white oil marker to help with alignment, as the scope and cable can shift independently.
- Attaching the battery pack/circuit board housing with VELCRO may be helpful, keeping such housing in place when the metal disconnect box is opened.
- Make sure to grind away paint and use appropriate adhesive when attaching wooden blocks to disconnect boxes.
- Applying Ceylon cinnamon inside counter housing may deter ants and spiders from entering for a limited period of time.
Intercept Surveys: Setup

- Reduce options under the "How did you hear about the trail?" question and add more lines for additional comments.
- Create space for the date and trail name.
- Provide additional information with signs announcing intercept surveys.
- Wear reflective gear and use a hat printed with organizational logo to lend formality to your work and instill trust.
- When using a vehicle, place window signs indicating the same. Use flashing lights on top of the vehicle to improve safety and demonstrate official work.
- Maintain a clean, organized table with a water jug on one end, snacks and the previous year's trails report in middle, and clipboards loaded with surveys ready for groups on the other end. Place the table off of the trail so as not to obstruct trail use. Consider how respondents will use the space (stand in front of the table, rest against a fence, etc.). On hot and sunny days, set up the under shade. On cold days, choose a sunny spot.
- Use click pens (no caps) with pocket clips to attach to clipboards.
- Provide insect spray and head nets for respondents to use on buggy days.
- Bring sunscreen and hand sanitizer.
- Carry a first aid kit.
- Dress in neat, clean 'outdoorsy' clothing – brighter colors better than dark. Have a 'Completed Surveys' shoebox for anonymity (especially if asking spending or income-related questions).

Intercept Surveys: Conducting

- Take time to engage respondents and ask follow-up questions. If you show appreciation for the trail user's time and genuine interest in their recommendations, you will receive valuable additional feedback. Having a volunteer survey-taker helps greatly with this.
- Always point out that there is a back side to the survey.
- You only have a few seconds to gain the interest of a trail user passing by so make friendly but direct eye contact and clearly say something like, "Hi! We're doing a survey to learn how people use the trail and what suggestions they may have." If the person pauses, follow up with, "I'm with [organization name] and here to get your input about how future trail funding can be used best." After providing them a clipboard with survey and pen, offer, "Help yourself to a snack or drink… and have a seat if you'd like."
- If a trail user says her or she doesn't have time to take a survey, offer to read basic questions to them. If they agree, you can usually get responses from many not willing to complete the survey themselves. When you're finished, hand it over and ask them to verify. Often they will ask for a pen and end up adding comments.
- Offer the following: "Feel free to add thoughts beyond the survey questions. Your feedback is valuable to us."

Intercept Surveys: Coding

During intercept surveys, the surveyor observed and recorded modes of travel and current weather/environmental conditions after each survey was completed, using the following codes:

Observed Mode of Travel
W	Observed Walking, Hiking, Running, Dog Walking
B	Bicycling, E-Bicycling

Observed Weather/Environment
S	Sunny
C	Cloudy
R	Raining
B	Buggy
H	Very Hot
F	Very Cold

For example, a survey marked W-SB indicates Walking (mode), Sunny (weather/environment), and Buggy (weather/environment).

Additional coding notes:

- Additional Mode of Travel codes could be used, including codes for UTV/ATV, Skiing, Wheelchair/Scooter, and Horseback
- In addition to the date, survey taker codes (such as TB – Tim Benedict) and trail codes (such as JAT – Jane Addams Trail) on each survey are helpful, as well as coordinates or a counter name (such as JAT-Wisco) indicating where on the trail the survey was conducted
- Add option for users to indicate what website, organization, publication, etc., from which they learned about the trail
- Larger blank space important for additional comments
- "x2" refers to the trail user having filled out the survey together with another person or persons

Intercept Surveys: Highlighted Trail User Comments and Surveyor Observations

The surveyor recorded these comments during informal conversations with survey takers and other trail users. Surveyor observations are also included.

Four Sisters' Bike Path	Galena River Trail
- Add lighting - Solar lighting along cornfield portion - Wired between Presbyterian church and Ace Hardware and behind high school - Add portable toilet by high school's southwest side - Needs flowers, prairie patches, water features, etc., instead of just grass - Field trail floods - Add mile markers - Connect trail to Rochelle's south side - Extend trail to Rockford, DeKalb	- Common suggestions: more bathrooms, drinking fountains, and signs (including for trail connections to Main Street, trail names, local history kiosks) - In downtown Galena, signs needed to direct trail users from Colonial Inn/Belvidere Mansion to the trailhead near Otto's; especially needed when railroad tunnel is flooded, which occurs often - Pedestrian crossing light needed on west side of bridge - Need better connection between north and south trails - Other suggestions: more viewing areas for cliffs/river, better trail map with key points of interest (e.g., Thunderbird Effigy Mound near Casper Bluff), addition of remote camping spots
Hennepin Feeder Canal Trail	Jane Addams Trail
- Security concerns near Wal-Mart where homeless live, particularly by bridge; impromptu police patrols suggested - Many youth fish along the canal, primarily just north of HFCT-Barn counter, often into the night and into the winter when darkness falls early; suggestions include: - Illumination near the north barn - More benches	"Wonderful trail but few know of it." Improved roadside signage and publicity would help greatly. Bikers are major users of JAT and take great pride in it, often doing trail maintenance on their own - Cater to bikers with bike repair and air stations - Mileage markers needed

- o More fishing spots (fishing area is crowded)
- o Install lifebuoy rings by existing bench by north barn and out on the cement pier that many use for fishing (some anglers admitted they cannot swim)
- Signs needed to let trail users know where path continues along railroad tracks by Dillon Home
- Likewise, signs needed to direct those users over the river walkway
- Formally address mountain biking and informal trails
- Improve signage re: where to safely cross streets or pass under bridges
- Boat ramp by HFCT trailhead is supposedly silted – such that boats cannot easily be launched, except small flat-bottom boats and canoes/kayaks; dredging recommended
- "Pete Dillon bought up property for the trail [near the Hoover Park & Dillon Home area]. Continue the care."
- Maintenance needed on walking boards by lock & dam and along trail in general (fallen trees, etc.)
- Youths would like to see a "fun park" with pool, zip-line, sledding for winter, trampoline park, etc.
- Survey's "Trail Connections" question can be interpreted differently– either as connectivity to trails (for example, Polo to Lowell Park to Dixon) or connections to destinations (for example, to friend's house along the Hennepin Feeder)
- Most youths surveyed say they heard about the trail by word of mouth, but when questioned further they often say they heard chatter on Facebook or pictures on

- Parking needed by Wisconsin border. Nothing exists for many miles. Only option is a slope where trucks speed around the corner
- More benches would be appreciated, followed by water stations and toilets
- More access points desired
- IL 26 crossing effectively cuts trail in two and feels unsafe
- Groom trail a few times in winter for cross-country skiing

Instagram and had to "check it out." Word of mouth and social media may often be interchangeable

Joe Stengel Trail and Lowell Parkway Trail

• Post a detailed, accurate map of Meadows trails • Keep Meadows open for bikers/hikers during bow season (keep closed during shotgun days) • Offer hike-in camping spots in Meadows/Walgreen/Lowell Park area • More bathrooms, benches, and water fountains • Connect to Joe Stengel Trail all the way to Polo

02/21/2020	57358200	add lighting to secluded parts of trail like by Presbytery Church. add a flushing toilet?
02/21/2020	57357717	continue trail to south side of town
02/21/2020	57357454	add signage on new trail to Flag Ctr with mileage and raise some spots that get flooded in the field
02/21/2020	57357156	should connect to south side of town, along the golf course preferably, and go east between the fields to Dement Rd. I bike to work and not having to take 38 would be safer and better

02/21/2020	57354850	add more routes like trail between Sycamore and St Charles
02/21/2020	57354704	the estension off of 20th just goes straight -needs more of a scenic loop take care of bridge issues (underwater after rains)
02/21/2020	57354532	I'm 95 y.o. and walk this trail from Atwood 2 miles a day with my cane since my stroke and would love to have another bench or two along the way and a restroom
02/21/2020	57354146	would love to see our trail to connect to other towns trail could use small mile markers and flowers (zinnias are colorful and easy)
02/21/2020	57353890	connect to other trails, extend to south end of town
02/21/2020	57335060	when adding landscaping, which i hope u guys do, planting low shrubs along edge of ponds will deter geese as they're afraid of predators lurking in them. Also, these little leaf Lyndons (Tillia) you have planted at Atwood attract Japanese beetles. Replace them
02/21/2020	57334469	extend trail to south side by airport, maybe going along Jack Dane Dr and Intermodal
02/21/2020	57334150	water and bathroom needed on north end
02/21/2020	57332251	add native and floral landscaping along trail
02/17/2020	56998172	add flowers along trail
02/17/2020	56997642	extend trail to rockford or dekalb if possible, make more natural environment along trail
02/17/2020	56996378	connect to south side of town, add portapotty by SW side of high school, solar lighting in corn field trail and between Presbyterian Church and Ace Hardware
02/17/2020	56995295	Add flowers and natural areas (prairie patch, fountain creek...) and not just grass Trail by high school seems isolated. add mile markers
02/17/2020	56995064	add a restroom by HS tennis courts, 38/251, Flag Ctr add mile markers extend loop to south side of town
